Dear Colleagues,

Eğitim Sen expresses its solidarity with the struggle of the working classes in France on March 23rd, where the 9th mass strike and protests against the pension reform will be organized.

The French working classes and trade unions are organising mass strike and actions across France today to prevent the imposition of the anti-worker pension reform of the Emmanuel Macron's government. Despite millions of workers repeatedly taking to the streets and using their productive power, the government's refusal to back down on the so-called "reform" of the pension law and passing it through parliament without vote has once again demonstrated its pro-capitalist stance.

As Eğitim Sen, we salute in a spirit of solidarity the opposition, anger, rebellion and struggle of the working classes and trade unions of France against the impositions of capital and the usurpation of the rights that the working class has won through great struggles. Your organized and collective struggle inspires us and all the oppressed working classes of the world.

Eğitim-Sen stands by the organised, collective struggle of SUD Education and all working classes of France!

Your struggle is our struggle!

In solidarity,

On behalf of EĞİTİM SEN Central Executive Committee,

General Secretary
